When Ruthie Carvalho finds an old birthday card with a marriage proposal scribbled on the back, she figures shes hit pay dirt and is destined to get her 35 year old daughter married. The trouble is, Ruthie cant stand Caras boyfriend and Cara is just stubborn enough to push in the opposite direction of what her mother wants. When Devin Michaels gets a phone call from his old friends mom, he knows Ruthie is up to something. But hes at a crossroad. Its been 17 years since hes seen Cara and memories of their soulful talks and walks on the beach make him long to reconnect. Going back to the seaside town of Westport Massachusetts to reconnect with Cara seems like just the thing to do. One look at Cara and the years seem to melt away. With a little help and creative planning from Ruthie, can these old friends become lovers and have a second chance at happiness? ===== Excerpt: Oh, but...what about the wedding? Ruthie gasped. Whos wedding? Why...yours and Caras, of course. You did read the card, didnt you? Yes, but... Puzzled by her query, Devin picked up the card again and turned it over in case hed missed some important piece of information. The search proved futile. Cara will be thirty-five next week. Yes, I know. Well, then you know what that means, dont you? He was silent. Do you or dont you intend to honor that contract, young man. A grin tugged at his lips. Although Ruthies voice held a hint of amusement, he sensed her taking this line of offense immensely serious. Knowing in advance how Ruthie Cavarlho operated, he proceeded with caution. Ruthie, its not really a contract. Its in black and white. Yes, but its bogus. There was no serious intention of marriage by either of us, no meeting of the minds. No- Devin, dear, dont talk to me in legal mumbo jumbo. I dont understand a word of it. It was a joke. Its not legal. Not legal, Ruthie grunted. There was silence on the other end of the line for a few seconds. Devin picked up the ball point pen hed strangled earlier and started tapping in his desk to fill in the void. Would Cara know this? Ruthie finally asked. Well, I- Ill bet she doesnt, she proclaimed, an undertone of hope resonating in her words. He could almost hear the wheels in her head spinning triumphantly when she declared, What she doesnt know wont hurt her. A grin tugged at his lips. Ruthie, what are you up to?
