

Everybody Knows (Razes Hell Book 2)

Lucy Hayes has been offered the opportunity of a lifetime a chance to go on tour with the UK's fastest rising rock band, Razes Hell. Lucy Hayes has been in love with Razes Hell's frontman, Jason Brooks, for as long as she can remember. While most women see him only as a rock god, Lucy sees the real Jason. But will that be enough to make him see her as the adult she is, or is she destined to remain the baby sister of his best friend forever? When Lucy bags an invite to join Razes Hell on their Europe and U.S. tour, she is under no illusions about where she fits in Jason's life. She's the girl next door, too young to ever catch his attention. However, when Lucy is the first to notice Jason's struggle to keep his cocaine addiction in check while out on the road, the pair grow closer, and Lucy thinks she might be about to make her dreams come true. But how can it ever work out? With an age gap against them, not to mention concerned family and friends stating their opinions, and the media turning something beautiful into something sinister, they are fighting an impossible battle. Everybody Knows there's something between Lucy and Jason, but will their feelings be enough to keep them afloat, or will their feelings tear apart everything they hold dear?
