Remi Harris has a plan. Graduate high school, go to college, become a history teacher, be self-sufficient unlike her mother who is a struggling single mom. And the word boy has no place in her plan. Cooper Neal has been sent to his estranged fathers house to spend his Senior year getting to know him. And maybe, just maybe, there will be some cute girls in the small town. Cooper sees Remi and he falls hard. Remi sees Cooper and wonders if she can do both. The question is; will he ruin her plans, or be a part of them?
